Henry Opukaha'ia Scholarship

In the Hawai'i Conference, the Henry Opukaha'ia Fund plays a key role in supporting seminarians. Each year, prospective and current pastors are eligible to receive a Henry Opukaha'ia Scholarship, named for the young Hawaiian credited with inspiring the Sandwich Islands mission that brought Christianity to Hawai'i in the 1800s. Nani Hill, Kahu of Hanapepe Hawaiian Congregational Church on Kaua'i, is a notable recipient of the scholarship. Nani received the Henry Opukaha'ia Scholarship while pursuing her Doctor of Ministry degree at Chicago Theological Seminary. "I would not have been able to complete my doctorate without scholarships," said Nani. "This particular scholarship was invaluable and allowed me to focus on my thesis about the 'aloha spirit' theology, which continues to be the main focus of my ministry."
